

Construction

Construction starts are up, investments are being made in infrastructure, and new building projects from horizontal to high-rise are projected. Management of several aspects of business risk are key to ensuring the success of these projects.

Our construction lawyers are construction project savvy and ready to help to bring your projects in on time and on budget. We understand the bid process, estimating, submittal approvals, RFIs, CPM scheduling and avoiding critical path impacts and liquidated damages. General contractors, CMARs, architects and engineers, large subcontractors, suppliers and public and private owners routinely look to us for all types of projects including traditional design, bid, build, construction manager at risk, design build, integrated project delivery and public-private partnerships. When conflicts arise, our deep bench is ready to assist with bid protests, contract terminations and defenses, delay and impact claims, liquidated damages, scope disputes, changed conditions and acceleration.
